This unit was authored by a team of Colorado educators. The template provided one example of unit design that enabled teacher-authors to organize possible learning experiences, resources, differentiation, and assessments. The unit is intended to support teachers, schools, and districts as they make their own local decisions around the best instructional plans and practices for all students.

The Colorado Academic Standards for Drama and Theatre Arts are not intended to be taught in a linear (checklist of coverage) fashion, but rather should be implemented as a cyclical creative process. Each unit within this sample blueprint intentionally includes standards from all three drama and theatre arts standards to illustrate this process-based philosophy.

Technical Vocabulary:	Stage directions (SR, SL, US, DS), Proscenium arch, blocking, green room, wings, front of house, back stage, stage presence, back story, production concept, Director’s concept, blackout, improvisation

Colorado Teacher-Authored Sample Instructional Unit

Unit Description:	In this unit, students will develop the Fundamental strand of the scripted work overview. The Fundamental strand focuses on the students’ exploring personal emotional connections to a scripted work through the creation of a play. Students will be asked to analyze and refine performances through the lens of social, political, historical, and/or environmental factors. The unit will culminate in a scene performance in which students portray a character with a range of emotions while considering the context of social, political, historical, and/or environmental factors that faces the character.
Considerations:	This unit is designed to focus on the Fundamental portion of the “Scripted Works Unit Overview” meaning it is designed as a beginning to intermediate level of scene work. When teaching this unit, teachers should focus on students’ portrayal of relationships within a performance through individual emotional response and expression. It is important to take into the consideration the background of students when utilizing emotional recall. The director’s production concept will be implied and inferred within discreet scene development throughout this unit as most directors’ concepts apply to a full production. Should teachers wish to add Extended Pathway elements, please see pages 1-4 for additional ideas.
Unit Generalizations
Key Generalization:	Fundamental: Actors’ personal emotions inform the development and portrayal of character relationships through using personal emotional experiences throughout the acting process.
Supporting Generalizations:	Fundamental: Cultural and family traditions can often dictate character choices which can limit the actor’s decision making process
	Fundamental: The creation of a play may enhance the discovery of current social, political, historical and cultural themes and issues and philosophies.
	Fundamental: Director’s production concept can intentionally drive audience perceptions of characters.

Performance Assessment: The capstone/summative assessment for this unit.
Claims: (Key generalization(s) to be mastered and demonstrated through the capstone assessment.)	Actors’ personal emotions inform the development and portrayal of character relationships through using personal emotional experiences throughout the acting process.
Stimulus Material: (Engaging scenario that includes role, audience, goal/outcome and explicitly connects the key generalization)	Congratulations! You have just been selected to perform a monologue (or duet) scene in showcase for a famous director! The director expects that you will deliver a well-rehearsed scene as a character that demonstrates a range of emotions. Decisions for your characterization should show a connection to the social, political, historical, and cultural era of the scene being performed. You will perform a scene for the director and an audience.
Product/Evidence: (Expected product from students)	Students will perform a scene from a contemporary scripted work with a personal emotional connection demonstrating the following skills: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Analysis of a character to include the social, political, historical, and cultural era or theme of the scene</li> <li>• Collaboration through working with fellow classmates on character discovery through effective communication such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Body language (e.g., gestures, posture, body alignment, control of isolated body parts, and rhythms)</li> <li>○ Tone of voice (e.g., Breath control, diction, projection, inflection, rhythm, and pace)</li> <li>○ Developing a relationship between other characters (e.g., Demonstrate knowledge of motivation (what the character wants) through the recall of emotional experience, blocking, and observations of the external world)</li> <li>○ Connecting feelings to thought process when creating a character</li> </ul> </li> </ul> Possible rubrics to evaluate the various requirements can be found at:  http://www.coloradoplc.org/assessment/assessments/performance-scripted-material (HS Performance Assessment Tool- Scroll to the bottom of the page for all assessment material attachments)

Colorado Teacher-Authored Sample Instructional Unit

Differentiation: (Multiple modes for student expression)	Additional ways students can demonstrate these skills: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Develop a character outline in written form</li> <li>• Create a character collage reflecting the historical and cultural backgrounds</li> </ul>

		Determine a method to create a fully developed character. Build on the creative process in character development and script improvisation

Prior Knowledge and Experiences

The students should have some prior experience in using a process to adapt a scripted work. The students should have exposure and experience in reading a variety of contemporary scripts. Students should feel comfortable with basic improvisational games and be able to make decisions for one scene based upon the content of the full theatrical work. Knowledge of basic stage directions and theatre vocabulary is encouraged but not mandatory.

Learning Experiences # 1 – 7

Instructional Timeframe: Teacher Determined

Learning Experience # 1

The teacher may share climactic monologues/scenes (e.g., “You Can’t Handle the Truth” from A Few Good Men, Atticus Finch’s courtroom scene) so that students can begin to understand the relationship between emotional expressions/experiences and a social, political, historical, and cultural context.

Generalization Connection(s):	Actors’ personal emotions inform the development and portrayal of character relationships through using personal emotional experiences throughout the acting process Director’s production concept can intentionally drive audience perceptions of characters Cultural and family traditions can often dictate character choices which can limit the actor’s decision making process
