Growing up involves taking on added responsibilities. Write about one responsibility that you have in your life.

You do not have to use all the lines. Just write on as many as you need.

Although I have many responsibilities, I feel that the most important one is setting a good example for my little sister, Corina. When I was younger, my parents were my role models because I didn't have an older sibling. Now I realize that my sister wants to be just like me. My little sister buys the same clothes as me and she does her hair like mine. Recently I heard my sister say that she wanted to get better grades because I have a 4.0 GPA. My sister wants to live up to who I am, whether I am responsible and kind or rebellious and nasty to others. That is why it is so important for me to set a good example, so that my sister will one day be a good role model.

Since I am older I play with my friends more and am allowed to go places my younger siblings can't. I am allowed to do such things because I am more responsible. One responsibility that confuses is knowing when to come home and how long I can play. I need to be responsible enough to look at the time and have good judgement. As you get older you take on more responsibilities, when I'm 16 I need to be responsible to know how fast to drive a car. All in all growing up means more responsibilities.

Although I have always had many responsibilities, because I am older I have to take care of my younger sister. She gets into a lot of trouble so I have to watch her closely. She is my biggest responsibility.
